Face plant buries teens' title hopes

Canadian teenagers Zachary Smith and Erin Moody (foreground) had a good lead in their heat at the third annual North American Wife Carrying Championship — but then came the water pit, where they stumbled and sank to an eventual ninth-place finish. As the teens floundered and floundered, Warren and Wendy Straatman (11) pulled ahead, on their way to this year's title.

Sooner wife-carry couple crosses the line soonest

An Oklahoma couple emerged from a course of log hurdles and a muddy water hole as champions in this year's national wife-carrying contest at Sunday River Ski Resort.

A team from Fairfield took third place in the event, which was one of a number of "Fall Festival" activities held over the weekend.

The winning couple, Warren and Wendy Straatman of Owasso, Okla., came to Maine well-prepared for the challenge. The Straatmans are two-time winners of the Oklahoma Wife Carrying Championships, and the latest event was their third annual attempt to win the elusive national title at the Sunday River ski area.

The Straatmans faced an unmarried pair of teenagers from Tillsonburg, Ontario, in their heat. The Canadian pair, Erin Moody and a lanky, six-foot-tall hockey player named Zachary Smith, took the lead as the 278-yard race began.

The Canadians, winners of the Canadian National Wife Carrying Championship at Tillsonburg in July, wore bright white T-shirts and painted Canadian flags on their faces. The 17-year-olds also brought along a contingent of fans to cheer them on.

Moody and Smith remained ahead after nimbly scrambling over the hurdles. They hit the water pit running.

"I think we had (the race won), but we went too fast into the water. It was too muddy. My head went under and then my whole body," Moody said Smith pitched forward and the pair submarined to the other side, arms and legs flailing wildly.

Moody quickly climbed back on Smith's back and shoulders and the two dashed to the finish line, but they ended up ninth while the Straatmans went on to win the championship.

The Straatmans navigated the course, which included two, three-foot-high log hurdles and the 22-foot-long lagoon, in a minute and 15 seconds.

The second-place finishers were John Lund of Wenham, Mass., and Anni Thomas of Concord, N.H. Randy and Lisa Chapman of Fairfield, took third. Sixteen couples competed.

While Moody and Smith didn't win, organizers named the muddy lagoon Lake Ontario in honor of the teens' efforts.

Snowmobile bridge slated to be built in time for next winter

New Androscoggin crossing could also be used by skiers, cyclists ATVers and other recreationalists

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The upcoming winter will likely be the last one snowmobilers wishing to cross the Androscoggin River here will have to squeeze in beside tractor trailers and ski traffic.

Local snowmobilers have long pressed for an alternative to using the present Route 2 bridge over the river — which they regard as an accident waiting to happen.

And for just as long they've been disappointed.

But now — or more specifically, next summer — "It's gonna happen," said Town Manager Scott Cole.

"There's nothing on the screen that's going to bump this project," he said following a meeting Tuesday with state officials who will be in charge of getting the bridge built.

Also on Tuesday, the state broke ground on a new multi-use recreational bridge in The Forks, the first of three the state is currently committed — and funded — to build.

The next bridge on the list is Bethel's, which the Maine Department of Transportation will tackle as soon as The Forks project is completed, Cole said.

Much has yet to be decided, including whether the new bridge will stand alone or be attached to the current highway bridge, and in either case whether it would be located upstream or downstream of the current structure.

Also to be decided is how wide the travel surface of the bridge will be.

Cole said MDOT has begun internal discussion of such matters and will schedule a public hearing to solicit public input.

Planning Board approves rock-crushing operation

Testing finds noise to be within Bethel's legal limits

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

The Savage rock-crushing operation received preliminary approval from the Bethel Planning Board last Wednesday.

Planners, faced with a long list of abutters' concerns, struggled to separate issues of rock crushing and gravel pit operation during the meeting. Rock crushing is subject to regulation. The town voted not to regulate gravel pits last year.

The application for the Savages' rock-crushing operation, located on the Intervale Road, had been put on hold, waiting for the results of noise tests required after abutters complained at a number of public meetings.

While the report indicates that the noise from the operation is "clearly noticeable" from a number of abutters' homes, all levels were below the limits imposed by the town's ordinances.

"Now that we've had a sound test, and we've already heard from the CEO that a bird made more noise than the rock-crushing operation, I would say that Ron (Savage) has met the concerns of the abutters to that point," said Dennis Doyon, Planning Board chairman.

But abutters also provided documentation about a number of other concerns for the board to consider.

Swallow Song Farm owners, Beth Myers and Tim McGuire, presented a letter about their irrigation pond, which is just below the crushing operation. The letter was from Peter Marcinuk of the Natural Resources Conservation Service.

"Your pond is lacking in water quality and quantity to make this an adequate source of water for irrigation. I have determined that your pond has received silt and sedimentation that has degraded the water quality and reduced that quantity

Ando Fire wins $66K federal grant

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Andover and Bethel fire departments have received a combined $88,000 in federal grant funds to improve their basic operations and safety initiatives.

Andover received $65,925. Fire Chief Ken Dixon said the money would be used to purchase turnout gear and more self-contained breathing apparatus.

The turnout gear, in the form of boots, pants, helmets, and other items, would account for about 40 percent of the grant money, he said. The department would buy 25 sets of gear.

Dixon said he recently had to borrow gear so that personnel could attend a fire-training program. Now, "I can give Bethel back their stuff," he said.

The rest of the funds would go toward buying 10 SCBA, to go with the department's current dozen units.

Dixon said the federal money, which comes through the Federal Emergency Management Agency,

'I can give Bethel back their stuff.'

KEN DIXON
Andover fire chief is a welcome relief to help departments keep up with federal requirements.

"There are a lot of mandated programs," he said, "and there are so many fire companies that just didn't have the resources to do it."

He said he expected the money would be available shortly. "I'm going to go get bids," he said.

Bethel grant continues work

The Bethel department received $22,500. The funding is a continuation of a similar grant received last year to support firefighter wellness and fitness, said assistant fire chief Mike Jodrey. The grant applications have been prepared by department member Don Murphy.

Last year's funds covered all fire fighter physicals, as well as a series of hepatitis shots. The department also hired Dr. Donald Christie, a sports medicine physician, and several Gould Academy alumni to do complete sports physicals on all members.

As part of the evaluation, the firemen were advised on how to overcome any weaknesses or old injuries.

They then went on to participate in strength training, stretching, and diet counseling with the help of Dick Taylor, Tom Eckfeldt and Christie. The department used training equipment at Gould until purchasing some for the department with grant funds.

This year's funds will continue to cover all of the activities, and will also purchase medical equipment for testing that is mandated yearly by law.

Until now, the nearest place to do the testing has been Norway.

Drought was just fine for summer stingers

By ALISON ALOISIO

Were there more hornets than usual on your apple crisp at the Fryeburg Fair this fall, or buzzing around the picnic table this summer?

You weren't alone. Thanks to the drought, it was a "good" year for yellow jackets, wasps and other groundnesting insects.

Rainfall usually keeps the stinging insects in check, according to Mark Latti of the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. At least some nests become submerged in water or play host to mold

Otten eyes business options for property next to skiway

By ALISON ALOISIO

Les Otten is apparently exploring options for putting a business on his residential property at Sunday River Ski Resort.

Otten has declined to give details, but the subject has come before two boards in Newry over the past two months.

Otten said Wednesday he had talked informally to the Newry Planning Board in September, making "a hypothetical proposal, if someone wanted to develop" something on the property. "There isn't anything definitive," he said.

His house and land are located near the skiway end of the Skiway Access Road, next to the upper South Ridge parking lot.

On Tuesday, Otten's representatives made a request to selectmen for a special Town Meeting to vote on adoption of an ordinance governing septic holding tanks.

Rich St. John, Newry's code enforcement officer, said later that by state ruling, a holding tank would be needed in order to put a restaurant on the property.

In turn, an ordinance would also be needed to govern such tanks, when there is no practical alternative to a tank, he said.

But on Wednesday, Otten said he has now learned from the state that because septage from a tank on his property would be disposed of on other property he owns, there is no need for regulation by ordinance.

As a result, he said, any application for commercial use of the site could proceed under the Planning Board's normal site plan review.

FAIRNESS — FOR THE RICH

To the Editor:

I have great respect for Al Barth and all he's done for the people of Bethel. But what he wrote two weeks ago about taxes illustrates perfectly why people are starting to see the Republican Party as the party of rich, fat cats. The Reagan tax cuts he speaks so highly of produced the biggest deficits in our nation's history, and a terrible recession. And who did those tax cuts help? Millionaires.

When politicians start preaching tax cuts, we need to look hard at who those tax cuts are for. Last year my wife and I got a check for $300, and Dick Cheney got one for $250,000. That Bush tax cut was the biggest gift to the super-rich and corporations in the history of our country.

(And they wanted to cut Enron's taxes, too.) Money that could have paid for education, prescription drugs, or lowering our property taxes went instead to people who are already rich. In just two years, Bush Jr. has also managed to run up a $2-trillion-dollar deficit, and we're now headed into another recession.

Al Barth thinks the tax system is Robin Hood run by liberals, stealing from the rich. But how much money does a rich person need? Right now 40 percent of all our country's wealth is owned by only 1 percent of the population. The middle class is shouldering more of the tax burden than ever. But then Bush and Trent Lott try to pull the wool over our eyes when they cut taxes for the super-rich by calling it "fairness." Right. Fairness for billionaires.

That's why, even though I'm a registered Republican, I'm not buying it any more. Susan Collins always votes for tax cuts for millionaires, and she voted against raising the minimum wage. And if Republicans win back the Senate we're going to see more tax cuts for the super-rich. At least Mike Michaud and Chellie Pingree want to cut the taxes of working folks, not fat cats.

TEACHING KIDS ABOUT BUSINESS

To the Editor:

Would anyone like to feel the excitement of the first day of school again? Junior Achievement can offer that chance. Throughout Maine, kids of all ages are back in school. At the same time, many business people are joining them, as Junior Achievement partners.

Last year, dozens of local business professionals, entrepreneurs, parents, retirees offered their personal experiences and JA's curricula to "Teach Kids How Business Works" and develop marketable skills for the workplace. We were successful in offering JA programs to over 400 students in SAD44 thanks to the support of local businesses.

This year, our goal is to bring JA programs to every student in grades one through five in the following schools: Andover, Crescent Park and Woodstock Elementary. JA orients volunteers on how to use their hands on materials to learn about economics and value free enterprise. Volunteer commitment is 40 to 55 minutes once a week for five weeks. Volunteers are needed in the fall (October-December), winter (January-March) or spring (March-May). We urgently need to place consultants in first- and fifth-grade classrooms.

Please give five hours to our young people. The rewards will be great. Remember, the students of today are the leaders of tomorrow. A preliminary meeting/training date is set for Thursday, Oct. 24. For more information on Junior Achievement contact Robin Mills at 381-0033, 824-3768 or email mainecustom@megalink.net.

MISSIONS CONFERENCE

To the Editor:

Despite the threat of volcanic eruption, and tremendous economic upheaval that has seen thousands of businesses closed and thousands of Ecuadorians losing their jobs, resulting in 2,000,000 people leaving the country to find work elsewhere as well as a rising number of street gangs, Randy and Joy Newburn have stuck it out, and have seen a new openness to their ministry as missionaries in Ecuador, South America. Randy is the national director of the AWANA program in Ecuador, in which over 3,000 Ecuadorian children are involved. Joy actively teaches in the Alliance seminary in Quito, as well as leading ladies' Bible studies.

The Newburns are the featured missionaries at the annual Missions Conference at the Bethel Alliance Church this year. The conference will run from Wednesday (Oct. 16) through Sunday (Oct. 20). They will also be sharing issues of cultural and historical interest in the Telstar Middle School eighth grade on Wednesday. The public is invited to be a part of the activities of the weekend, which will include an International Dinner on Friday, a Men's Breakfast, a Women's Luncheon, and Youth Pizza Party with the Newburns on Saturday. They will also be featured in the Sunday morning service and meet with the children in the evening. For more information, please call the church at 824-2289. The church is located just across from Telstar Regional High School.

FIREMEN'S DAY THANKS

To the Editor:

The Bethel Fire Department would like to thank all those who came out to show their appreciation for area firefighters on Oct. 6 at the Pleasant River Campground. Participation by the public and campers, along with food and financial donations from the campground owners: Mike and Michelle Mador; Liam's Restaurant owner, Will Cawsey; Leslie Thurston; and an anonymous donor allowed the firefighters to enjoy a free meal as a sign of appreciation. Represented were firefighters from Bethel, Newry, Andover, and the U.S. Forest Service. It was a beautiful fall day for the pig roast and over 60 people enjoyed the campground's recreational facilities free of charge.

This Sunday event marked the beginning of National Fire Prevention Week. All the organizers look forward to hosting the event again next year and inviting more of the area "mutual-aid" fire departments and members of the U.S. Forest Service forest fire team.

SHIRLEY POWELL

To the Editor:

Why am I voting for Shirley Powell?

Shirley is a listener. She is a warm and caring individual. Shirley and her husband, Bruce, were the pillars of strength for our class as we faced the loss of a true friend, their son Kevin. Kevin was an inspiration to all of his classmates. Even with his health challenges, he smiled at life, which to me exemplifies the family in which he was raised.

Shirley would be a true asset to the political realm. She is genuine and has a good handle on the issues at hand: health care, small business issues, education. As state Representative she would respond to the needs of District 65.

SHIRLEY POWELL

To the Editor:

Shirley Powell is a candidate for the Legislature in District 65 that includes a large area of Western Maine from Stoneham/Bethel area to the Rangeley/Eustis area. Shirley has a wealth of experience in healthcare; as one of the founders of the Bethel Area Health Center; its longtime executive director; and more recently working for healthcare organizations.

She and her husband, Bruce, raised their family in Hanover and operate Stony Brook Campground which has given her hands-on experience in operating a small business and a personal knowledge of the challenges in doing so. Shirley went back to college as an adult and fully understands how critical access to education is to our area. She will be a powerful voice for our region in Augusta.

However, Shirley is most importantly a wonderful friend; caring and compassionate. She understands people's need for advocacy with bureaucracies and will be exceptional in assisting individuals facing difficulties in dealing with state government.

Please cast your vote on Nov. 5 for Shirley Powell.

ROB CAMERON

To the Editor:

I am writing in support of Rob Cameron who is seeking the state senate seat for District 24. Having served with Rob in several state Legislatures, I know him to be sincere, a man of principle, and one who always worked very hard for all of his constituents. We didn't always agree on every issue, but I knew he had his constituents to help and that that was always his first priority.

Rob is fiscally responsible and will help us regain a government we can afford. We must change the "spend every dime plus more" attitude of the majority thinking in Augusta. Rob's ability to see all sides in every debate and his thoughtful insights will be right on target and most welcome in the State House.

The people of western Maine will be best served by electing Rob Cameron as their state senator in November. I urge every voter in District 24 to join me in voting for him.

BRUCE BRYANT

To the Editor:

When someone speaks with him, Bruce Bryant listens, cheerfully and attentively. You know, "Here's a man I can trust to help."

State Rep. Bryant has consistently demonstrated determined, quiet leadership. It is his leadership quality that makes him a strong candidate for state senator, where he can continue to be a leader with vision for his constituents and for their future.

An active supporter of the Maine RX Program and an advocate for Universal Health Care for all Maine residents, his concerns include the citizens of all age ranges.

As a father of three children, Bruce understands the importance of education in the 21st century. From day-care to technical schools and colleges, and adult education, citizens need the choice of as many educational opportunities as possible.

As a member of the Economic Development Committee, Bruce helped the River Valley Growth Council as they worked to obtain grants amounting to $875,000 for the Precision Metal Incubator Program in Rumford.

Because he is a hunter and fisherman, Bruce knows the environment is important to sportsmen who love the special quality of Maine woods and waterways.

Bruce Bryant is a known quantity of the highest integrity. He's been a fine representative; he'll make an excellent senator.

Vote on Nov. 5 for Bruce Bryant for state senator.

BRUCE BRYANT

To the Editor:

As the only full-time, unpaid citizen activist in the 119th and 120th Maine Legislature, I would like to take this opportunity to tell you about one of Maine's superb legislators. His name is Representative Bruce S. Bryant of Dixfield. He has served three terms in the House of Representatives and is now seeking the office of Senator in District 24.

As I sat in daily on hearings, work sessions and legislative debates on sportsmen, conservation, and labor issues, I got to know Rep. Bryant quite well. Bruce is a very special Representative in many ways. He is a listener and, as one of his well-respected fellow legislators said, he is a thinker. For his median age, he has an incredible knowledge base and he can and does speak effectively on issues that affect his constituency. As a committee member, Rep. Bryant has an uncanny ability to analyze and process public testimony and then to arrive at a proper decision in a way that is unique. He is a compromiser when necessary as much as he is steadfast when his and your principles are at stake. Bruce is a staunch supporter of our Constitution and our Bill of Rights. Rep. Bryant is an incredibly hard worker, both at the Legislature and as a paper mill worker. He represents all of the people all of the time. He also recognizes that something must be done to insure that everyone has access to adequate health care and reasonably priced prescription drugs.

If you are a blue- or white-collar worker, a parent, an elderly person, a small business owner, or a sportsman in Senate District 24, I strongly believe you will be served best by Rep. Bruce Bryant as the new Senator Bruce Bryant.

PETER CIANCHETTE

To the Editor:

As we approach Election Day, I hope all Maine voters will carefully examine the candidate's record and stands on issues and get the real facts. The races for governor and members of the Legislature are critical. Will we continue to support a government that is too costly and continue to pay the highest taxes? Or will we elect a fiscally responsible governor and Legislature who will hold the line on state spending and make the necessary changes in how the state conducts its business?

Past state governments have increased, "in law," state spending by 16.8 percent even though state revenues were expected to rise "only" 7 percent. This is wrong and must be corrected. For this reason, I am voting for Peter Cianchette for governor. One of his opponents has already said he would increase taxes and another, John Baldacci, voted for a $300 million increase in taxes the last time the state had a budget crisis. We cannot afford that again.

It's time for some fresh new faces in Augusta, and a new approach to how government carries out its mandates. We need a government that takes into consideration all Maine citizens, not just the special interest groups. A government that will propose no new spending until it puts its fiscal house in order.

Peter Cianchette says he will do just that. Please join me in voting for him on Nov. 5 and electing him our next governor.

To the Editor:

Do you really believe that Michaud is interested in senior citizens?

I want Kevin in Congress. You should.

JOHN BALDACCIO AND CHELLIE PINGREE

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in support of two candidacies because they share so many similar values; John Baldacci for Governor and Chellie Pingree for Senate. These two candidates embody old-fashioned values of honesty and independent thinking to a degree rarely seen in ordinary times, but especially true in today's politics. It is a testament to Maine that this state could have two individuals of this caliber running for office at the same time. Regardless of rhetoric, public office is most often sought by people looking for personal advancement and advantage. All too often, the route of public service simply translates into a method of obtaining public power. As we face what is probably the greatest crisis this nation has ever dealt with, Maine is extraordinarily fortunate to have, in Baldacci and Pingree, two candidates genuinely dedicated to the public good. For those who might doubt it, consult their public records. They are replete with examples of leadership on tough issues backed by courageously independent votes.

In a cynical age, when it's hard to believe anything politicians say, these two individuals have more than my vote, they have my trust.

SAD44 MEA results mixed

BETHEL—Maine Educational Assessment scores presented to the SAD44 School Board Tuesday show that students generally performed at or slightly above the state average in fourth grade, but by middle and high school years had slipped slightly below the state average in some subject areas. Supt. David Murphy said a five-point difference in either direction from the state average was "worth noting." In several subjects SAD44 elementary pupils were four or five points higher than the state, while in others they were within a couple of points. By later grades, the scores had dropped off from state average in some subjects by a similar number of points. Murphy said his administrators plan to review the cumulative records of students in the higher grades to see if students moving in, or out, of the district are affecting the scores either way. He said in recent years an increasing number of students have either come or gone in the district. "I think that's important information," he said.

SAD44 budget process begins

BETHEL—SAD44 administrators say they will start preparing a budget proposal with an eye to both the bottom line for taxpayers and the needs of the students, following discussion at Tuesday's School Board meeting. Several directors favored holding the line on the next budget, citing recent increases for capital improvement projects and the economy. Others asked Supt. David Murphy to present a budget to address the district's unfulfilled state mandates and other educational needs, such as a gifted and talented program, elementary foreign languages and a pre-kindergarten program. Murphy said if a status quo budget was approved, it would mean an overall budget increase of about 2.25 percent. He said with a fresh administrative team that includes two new principals, he plans to go over existing programs to look for more effective and efficient ways of spending budget dollars.

ASC to re-audit books

SALT LAKE CITY—The American Skiing Co. said Tuesday it will have to re-audit its books for 2000 and 2001 because its former accounting firm, Arthur Anderson, has gone out of the auditing business. After ASC sold Heavenly ski resort in California in 2002, the company's new bookkeeper, KPMG, said a recent decision by the Auditing Standards Board would require a re-audit of the 2000 and 2001 financial statements to account for the discontinued operation. As a result, the company will miss an Oct. 27 deadline for filing its annual report with the Securities and Exchange Commission. ASC said there are no known problems with the financial statements from those years. ASC is the parent company of Sunday River Ski Resort.

Men charged in store burglary

ANDOVER—Three men were arrested last week in connection with a break-in at the Andover General Store Oct. 4. Joshua Messier, 19, Nathan E. Palmer, 19 and Mark Chartier, 25, were charged with burglary and theft, according to the Oxford County Sheriff's Department. The men allegedly took $730 in cash, cigarettes, beer and Maine State Lottery instant tickets. The damage and theft totaled nearly $4,000. The men are also accused of destroying approximately $2,000 in credit slips the store was holding on customers' promises to pay. Sgt. Tim Holland and Dep. Justin Brown spent four days investigating the case.

Hanover Town Office is official

HANOVER—The Hanover Town Office was formally dedicated last Wednesday in a 3 p.m. ceremony attended by about two dozen people. The Ferry Road building was donated to the town several years ago by the Mead Corp., which was recognized at last week's event. The acquisition of the building marks the first time Hanover has had offices of its own, separate from the homes of town officials. The first floor was renovated at a cost of just under $20,000. Future plans call for renovation of the second floor for possible rental use. A slab of granite from the town's old schoolhouse was turned into a monument marking both the Town Office and the establishment of a nearby town boat landing, which was developed with aid from the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

Comp. plan group sets goals

WOODSTOCK—The Comprehensive Plan Committee last week discussed resources and goals for recreation, open space, land use and public facilities. The committee has been doing inventories of town resources and setting goals in preparation for presenting a plan at the next annual Town Meeting. Goals set out last week include: better public access to lakes and ponds; improvements to the town beach; more recreational activities for young people; management of land use and development in line with characteristics valued by the community; provide and maintain efficient and essential services to meeting the needs of public health, safety, education and welfare, and discourage development sprawl. Members also suggested the town's current subdivision ordinance be reviewed, a road improvement and maintenance plan be developed, a maintenance plan for town buildings and grounds be developed, and a study be done on the impact of more traffic on town roads. The committee next meets Oct. 22.

Library fundraiser successful

HANOVER—A yard/bake sale held last week to benefit the project to move the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library raised more than $1,200. Another sale is planned for Oct. 19 and 20 at the Town Office, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The funds raised will be used as seed money to relocate the library from the Howard Pond Road to a site adjacent to the Town Office. Library trustees plan to apply for grants and seek donations to the estimated $18,000 cost for the move. The former Knights of Pythias chapter also plans to donate approximately $1,200 to the project.

Bottle drive to benefit teams

BETHEL—The Telstar High School baseball and field hockey teams plan a bottle drive and car wash Saturday, Oct. 19 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the SAD44 bus garage. For bottle pickup, please call 824-2497 or 824-3136 no later than Friday.

Graham honored

PORTLAND—Jesse Graham, the son of Lee Graham of Woodstock, was recently honored as one of four "Leaders for Change" by the Dirigo Alliance. The alliance is a coalition of progressive and labor groups including the Maine People's Alliance, the Maine Council of Senior Citizens, the Maine AFL-CIO, the Sierra Club and others. Graham was honored for his work on the Single Payer Universal Health Care referendum in Portland and for work in a lawsuit against Mallinckrodt and HoltrChem to enforce the cleanup of mercury pollution in the Penobscot River. Among the other award recipients was mayor Karen Geraghty of Portland. Graham is a 1994 graduate of Mt. Blue High School and a 1998 graduate of the University of Vermont. He resides in Bar Harbor.

Absentee ballots available

AUGUSTA—Absentee ballots are now available from municipal clerks for the Nov. 5 general election. "Maine voters may request a ballot 'no reason' required," said Secretary of State Dan Gwadowsky. "Voters do not have to be out of town or state any other reason to vote absentee. This is a convenient alternative to voting at the polls." Maine law also allows an immediate family member to obtain an absentee ballot on the voter's behalf by making a request in writing. Ballots obtained in this manner do not require witnesses, unless the voter received assistance when marking the ballot. Requests by mail should be made as soon as possible. Completed ballots must be received before 8 p.m. Nov. 5. For information on the three referenda questions, see www.state.me.us/sos/cec/elec/coming.htm.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Wednesday, Oct. 9

At 12:48 p.m. police conducted traffic control for a fluid spill of unknown origin on Mechanic Street. Investigation determined it was engine oil. The Fire Department applied an absorption material and the scene was cleared.

Sunday, Oct. 13

At 1:30 p.m. a hiker entered the Police Department office and dropped off three dogs she had picked up in Grafton Notch. It was apparent the animals were bear dogs. The office held them at the PD until the owner was able to home in on them through the dogs' radio detection units.

Monday, Oct. 14

At 8:59 a.m. police investigated a traffic accident on the Intervale Road. A driver had failed to observe a 12-foot section of the top of a hemlock tree that had fallen into his lane. On impact, the right side window of the vehicle had been shattered.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

growth because of the dampness, destroying them or limiting their productiveness.

But that didn't happen this summer. In addition, until recently the lack of killing frosts prolonged the insects' activity.

Just ask members of the Telstar High School cross-country team.

They were chased, and in some cases stung, by ground hornets during two separate races in Madison this fall. Pursued by the angry insects, some runners set personal records for the course.

And as The Citizen reported in September, hikers on the Mt. Will trail in Bethel have had problems with persistent hornets from a nest next to the trail. Trail volunteer Walter Hatch was prompted to put up a warning sign alerting hikers to the danger.

Other area residents have reported more of the insects around their homes.

More patients at BFHC

At the Bethel Family Health Center, there have been more patients than usual coming in with sting-related problems.

"We have had an increased number of hornet attacks this fall," said Dr. Kevin Finley. The majority of the patients had been out in the woods, he said.

The hornets were more prevalent in the fall, he said, while bees and wasps presented problems late in the summer.

Latti said the insects near the end of their life cycle in the fall, and "They generally become more aggressive," at that time.

He said IFW had trouble with large numbers of yellow jackets at the Maine Wildlife Park in Gray this season. "Those problems have largely disappeared with the recent rainy weather," Latti said.

available for use. Recent logging operations located in the watershed of this pond appear to have caused the soils in your pond's watershed to become unstable, resulting in sedimentation in your pond."

But the Planning Board decided the sedimentation was not the result of rock crushing, but of previous logging operations and the gravel pit — which the board cannot regulate.

Kelly Vascik submitted a letter which claims there are several areas where the Savages' application does not meet the town's Site Plan Review requirements. Included in Vascik's list of deficiencies are the layout of the interior of the lot, driveway plans, landscaping, a surveyor's seal, building dimensions, elevations, building footprint sizes, erosion and sedimentation control plans, storm water management plans, and hours of operation.

Vascik also provided a log of the access road's use for a number of days in May through September. Vascik's log records a high use of 41 trips in or out of the driveway on Sept. 16.

But the board deemed most of those trips were related to the gravel pit, not the rock crushing. Furthermore, there are no standards for either the state or town regulating truck traffic. The Savages had also filed a traffic management plan with their application.

The Savages do have a storm water management plan that was filed with the application. Erosion control, Ron Savage said, has been reviewed by DEP.

Other omissions that Vascik pointed out pertained to the gravel pit and not the crusher, the board deemed.

The board voted to approve the crusher with conditions, including monitoring of the sound, visual screening, and limited hours of operation. The conditions-of-approval will be drafted for approval at the board's next meeting.

Other business

The board heard a pre-application request from the Nazarene Church to build a new church, multi-use building and four-bedroom home on Route 26 near Telstar High School. The board instructed the church to file a full site plan application, minus an elevation map.

Darlene Corriveau, developer of Community Attributes for People Involved in Self Help (CAPHISH) provided a letter defining the phases of development and the estimated cost of completion she expects for the Winter Street property.

The board asked Corriveau to provide additional details on plans, including ventilation systems, the elevator's location, and outdoor layout of the property. The town's code enforcement officer was also asked to clarify state laws governing the separation of educational facilities and drinking establishments.

Approval with conditions was given to Spectrum Resources Towers' application to build a cell tower in East Bethel. The conditions include a gravel driveway without use of any reclaimed asphalt, the tower company must carry a $16,000 removal bond on the tower, they must notify the CEO when construction commences so that he may monitor erosion, and upon construction the tower must have a carrier.

Sunday River Estates, a condominium complex on the Sunday River Road, was granted an extension on their site plan, which had expired, to build a second set of units.

Bridge

The project could cost up to $1.2 million, which will come in large part from a $61 million transportation bond. There is no local match for the project.

MDOT will manage the entire bidding and construction process, Cole said, but once the bridge is completed it will be turned over to the town, which will be responsible for routine maintenance and upkeep.

The new bridge would also improve the safety of kids bicycling to the proposed new North Road swimming pond.

The arrangement, Cole said, was approved in concept by the selectmen in February. A formal Town Meeting voter would be required for Bethel to formally accept the bridge, he said.

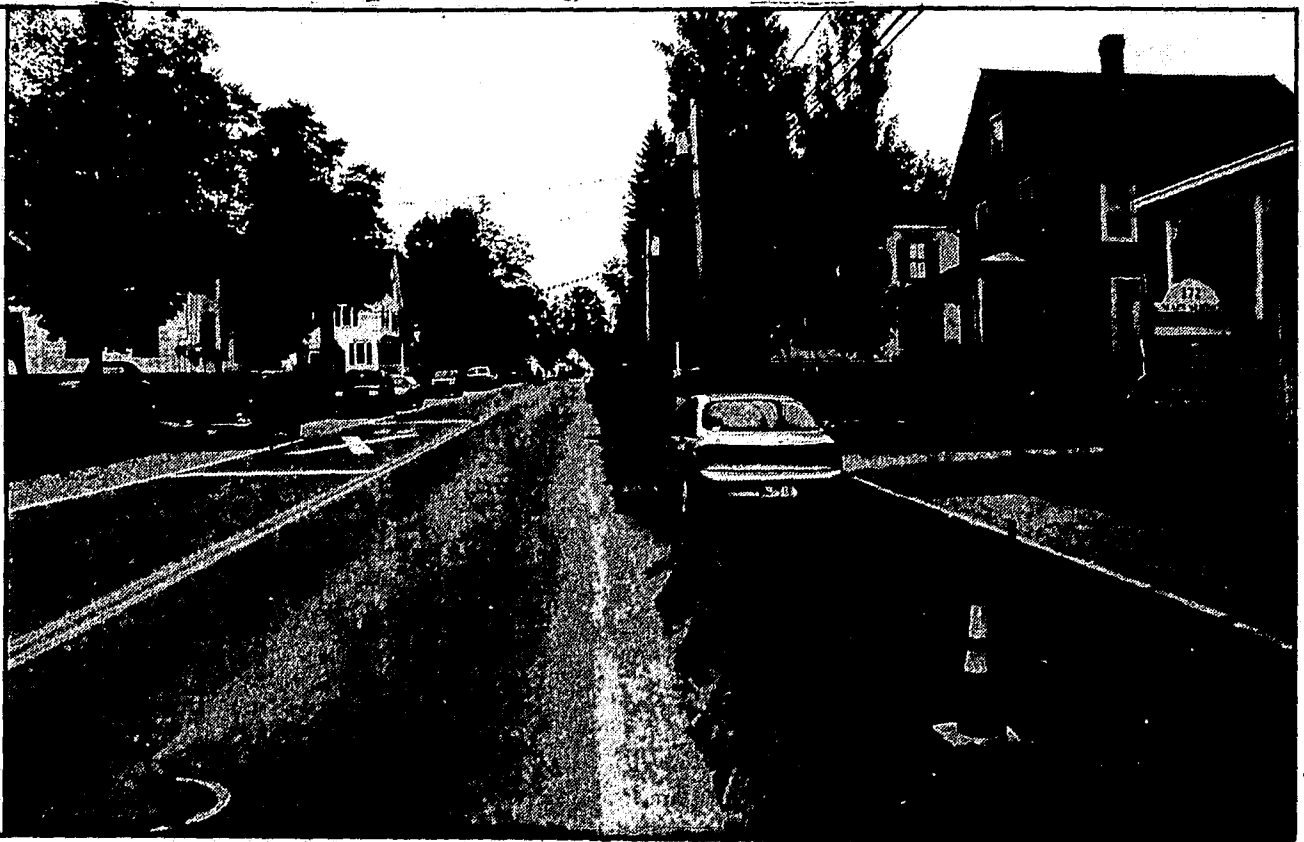

Concerns about safety at the current bridge increased following the town's decision to develop a swimming facility on the North Road — which many children would presumably reach by riding their bicycles from the village area.

sive," Jodrey said. "If we have Don do it with our own equipment it will pay for itself in the first year. We also have a few pieces of equipment that we would like to add to our gym at the Forest Service building."

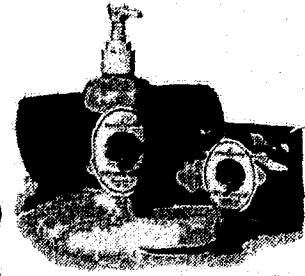

PLENTY OF PARKING was easily found on lower Main Street over the weekend, where strips of grass had been removed. This week town crews put in two new catch basins, and by early next week the parking spaces are expected to be paved, according to Town Manager Scott Cole. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

THE CAMPAIGN FOR EXCEPTIONAL CARE RESPONDS TO THE GROWING NEEDS OF OUR COMMUNITY.

The Emergency Services Department at Stephens Memorial Hospital is where thousands of people come for their medical care. Seasonal residents, an aging population, and simply more visitors have meant that we need to increase the size of this very busy facility.

When we finish our renovations there will be separate walk-in and ambulance entrances, new treatment and exam rooms, and expanded and comfortable waiting areas.

These improvements, along with an investment in the latest medical technology, will mean more privacy, comfort, and overall care for our patients and their families.

Welcome improvements, indeed.

Clyde, Clayton and Lola Crockett attended the wedding of Clyde's son and Clayton and Lola's grandson, Kyle Crockett-Ryan, and Wendy Gori, on Sunday, Oct. 6, at Clay Hill Farm, York. Grayson Wakefield and Renee Royer of Bethel and Clinton and Melissa Wakefield of South Paris also attended.

Guests of Norm Dock during the week of Oct. 4-14 were: Nancy H. Dock and M.J. Greenland of Encinitas, Calif.; Gretchen M. Dock and Anne Robins of Boston, Mass.; Roger and Susanne Dock of Glastonbury, Conn.; Timothy Dock of Glastonbury, Conn.; James and Heidi Dock of Auburn. The family enjoyed gatherings during the week, which began with a trip to the Fryeburg Fair on Sunday, the 6th. Shopping trips to L.L.Bean with dinner at Cook's on Bailey Island and trips through the 13-Mile Woods were also a treat. Roger Dock also prepared many favorite meals requested by his father, Norm. Roger refers to these as "pester foods" because Norm pesters him until he gives in and cooks them.

The highlight of the Dock gathering was the birth of Boden James Dock to Jim and Heidi Dock on the 7th of October in Lewiston. Paternal great-grandparents are Norman and the late Phyllis Davis Dock of Bethel and paternal grandparents are Roger and Susanne Dock of Glastonbury, Conn. Maternal grandparents are Susan and the late Stanley Moore of Bethel.

Becky Wagner underwent gall bladder surgery at Stephens Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, Oct. 15.

Oxford Hills Duplicate Bridge had five tables playing at their Oct. 11 game. A Howell movement was played and there were four winners. First: Nancy Farmer and Suzanne Dame. Second: Sue Ellis and Don Johnson. Third: Barbara and Paul Beegel and fourth was Mil Owens and Beverly Pelletier.

THE SINGING MOOSE MAN
Musician Marty Hamlin of Stoneham sat atop his carved moose at Davis Park last week strumming his guitar and playing, among other songs, his own original "A Moose Came Down from the Mountain." He attracted plenty of attention, drawing smiles and camera shots from motorists driving by. Hamlin had spent the previous week with Oxford T. Tripalot, the moose, at the Fryeburg Fair. Hamlin and his father, Dana, carved the life-sized beast. Hamlin said he played at Davis Park with the sole purpose of making himself and others happy.

will keep the United States in your Holy protection, that you will cause the hearts of the citizens to cultivate a spirit of obedience to the government. And finally that you will most graciously frame the minds of our officials to do justice to all. Also that we are in a receptive frame of mind to love mercy, and conduct ourselves with charity, humility, and peaceful temper which were the characteristics of the divine author of our blessed beliefs — That without these things we can never hope to be a happy nation." The Yard Sale fundraiser for the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library Moving Project was termed a success by organizers. The two-day event in the yard at the Hanover Town Office brought in many donated items and many items were sold. Thanks to a last-minute donation by Sen. Norm Ferguson, the group is reporting sales and donations amounting to $1,200.

Because donations of sale items are still coming in, Vicky Fimiani will run the sale again on Saturday, Oct. 19, and Sunday, Oct. 20. If you have items to donate, contact Vicky or leave them at the Town Office.

The Hanover Community Neighborhood Watch met Tuesday evening. State Trooper Abby Chabot and her police dog, Tango, came to talk to the folks who came out to the meeting. Tango is a five-year-old Hungarian Shepherd that has been extensively trained for police work. Trooper Chabot explained how she uses the 120-pound dog to track criminals, lost people, and missing items. Tango told everyone how observant, capable and protective he is.

Wednesday, Oct. 10, was Dedication Day for the Hanover Town Office. Chairman of the Selectboard Bruce Powell told the gathering of the town's efforts to consolidate all the town's business into one location. He expressed appreciation to Mead-Westvaco Corporation and Maine Inland Fisheries and Wildlife for helping to make the town office and boat ramp a possibility. A plaque that recognizes that effort was unveiled. The plaque is mounted on a granite stone that was moved to the site from the Hanover Town House on the Howard Pond Road. Powell also gave recognition to the many workers and volunteers who worked on the project that took several years to complete. Among those present were Rep. Arlan Jodrey, County Commissioner Steve Merrill, Mead-Westvaco Mill Manager Gary Curtis and Tony Lyons, as well as visiting officials from Newry and Bethel. The town office is located on Ferry Road and is visible from Main Street (Route 2).

Danny Schwind from Brunswick visited Plumbago Mountain Farm over the weekend. Also visiting was Kay Worcester. A tour of the Mount Dimmock Road was part of the agenda.

Extensive renovations are taking place at the Sunflower Inn. The building is the oldest structure in Hanover, dating back as far as 1774. Owners John and Irene Katcha are restoring the now private residence to its original appearance before it became an inn during the 1930s. When the structure was built, that portion of Hanover was part of Bethel, and it was known as the Nathaniel Segar Place. It was named the Sunflower Inn because of the many sunflowers planted along the entrance each year.

A lost dog was found near Top Hat Antiques on Wednesday, Oct. 9. The black and white medium-sized dog was reported to be very friendly. Animal Control Officer Dan Pearce said the animal would be taken to McKenney's Animal Adoption Agency in Rumford until the owners are located.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Halloween isn't quite here yet and already the stores are decked out with Christmas decorations in an attempt to lure customers into their holiday shopping. The television and magazine ads are all geared to convince consumers of what the best gift ideas are.

It is a good idea to start your Christmas shopping early; there is no doubt about that. With three grandsons to spoil I pay close attention to the toy commercials to see what's hot and what's not. When I do go to the stores I find myself browsing the toy aisles for trucks and tool sets for my pre-teen-son-terone laden cherubs.

The strong desire for a granddaughter that will never be, however, pulls me into the doll aisle to peruse all the babies and Barbies that I wish had been around when I was a little girl. I did have dolls of course; I clearly remember Betsy Wetsy. And I did have a Barbie doll, but she was pretty boring compared to the bevy of Barbies that are now available. It would be so nice to have a little girl to buy all the things that I wish I had once had.

I was telling a friend that even though my grandsons are so very special to me, I just don't get the same kind of vicarious thrill when I see them open their Tonka toys Christmas gifts as I would get watching a granddaughter opening some of the cute little girl things like Barbie.

My friend said that she understood and felt that even though I am quite adult that it was not out of the question to buy myself a doll of my own. She said she had a list of the new adult Barbie dolls that are available. Later that day she e-mailed me the list of menopausal plastic maidens. I was stunned.

There is "Bifocal Barbie" who comes with her own set of blended-lens fashion frames in six hot colors (half frames too), neck chain and large print editions of Vogue and Martha Stewart Living. Having this Barbie around would give me some comfort whenever I try to thread a needle and become convinced that there really is no eye at the end of the needle. It would be nice to have a doll to share my misery with.

I could toss and turn most of the night with "Hot Flash Barbie" next to me on my pillow. If you press "Hot Flash Barbie's" belly button you can watch her face turn beet red and tiny drops of sweat appear on her forehead. She comes with a

I did have dolls of course; I clearly remember Betsy Wetsy. And I did have a Barbie doll, but she was pretty boring compared to the bevy of Barbies that are now available.

handheld fan and tiny Barbie-size tissues. She would be company every time I get up at night to go to the bathroom.

I would put "Facial Hair Barbie" right next to the medicine cabinet in the morning while I'm getting ready for work. As our hormones shift we both grow whiskers. This Barbie comes with teeny tweezers and magnifying mirror. I have big tweezers and a big magnifying mirror.

"Flabby Arms Barbie" I think was modeled after me. Her clothes have roomier sleeves to hide her sagging flab and she also has a MuMu with tummy support panels to conceal her sagging gut. I like her taste in clothing.

Then there is "Mid-Life Crisis Barbie" who has ditched Ken and taken up with Alonzo, her personal trainer. This Barbie comes with a red Miata and Prozac. Or perhaps you would prefer "Divorced Barbie" who sells for $199.99, but you also get Ken's house, Ken's car and Ken's boat.

For those middle-aged women who can't consider the possibility that Barbie's life could be anything less than perfect, there is "Soccer Mom Barbie". This set includes her old cheerleader's megaphone so she can root for Babs and Ken, Jr. in all their sports endeavors. Also included are a minivan (your choice of robin-egg blue or white) and a cooler filled with doughnut holes and fruit punch.

For the women who spent their younger years wearing ill-fitting high heel shoes, there is "Bunion Barbie." This little sweetie has very sensible terry mules to ease her aching feet and also has a pumice stone and plasters to help with the pain. I always knew those ridiculous stiletto heels and those stupid high-arched feet were going to cause her trouble.

I like the idea of the "No-More-Wrinkles Barbie" because she knows how to erase crow's feet and lip lines with Skin Sparkle-Sparkle which comes from her very own line of exclusive age-blasting cosmetics. This Barbie is the 12" doll equivalent of Mary Kay.

My personal favorite of the middle-aged Barbies is "Post-Menopausal Barbie". This is a doll that I can really relate to. She wets her pants when she sneezes, forgets where she puts things and cries a lot. She is sick and tired of Ken sitting on the couch channel surfing. This Barbie comes with Depends and Kleenex and as a bonus you also get the book, "Getting In Touch with Your Inner Self."

I think they should have also created "Bleated-Arthritic-Whiney-Swollen Feet-Saggy Breasts Barbie". She could come with her own prescription for hormone replacement therapy and several pairs of elastic waist polyester pants. Oh, wait, that wouldn't be a Barbie doll, that would be a Sharon doll.

Of course, this is all tongue-in-cheek; there are no such Barbie dolls as these now or anytime in the future, I'm quite sure. But the way I see it, these Barbies are somewhat like my granddaughters, just because they don't exist doesn't mean they're not a great idea.

On Sunday, Oct. 6, we were honored to have the Eastwind Quartet from the East Auburn Baptist Church come and do an evening of beautiful music. What beautiful music and what a wonderful message they brought to us. We were blessed indeed to have them with us and hope they will come back again sometime.

Monday evening, Oct. 7, Franklin Grange met at their hall for inspection by State Grange Deputy James Lowe followed by a program on Senior Safety presented by the Grange lecturer. The material came from The Triad program of the Oxford County Sheriff's Department. Thank you, Linda Hooker, for all your help.

The Triad program develops programs to reduce the criminal victimization of our senior citizens and to serve the very special needs of our senior citizens who have been victimized. To protect our seniors are our Oxford County Sheriff's Department, the other local law enforcement agencies and Oxford County Triad Group. Remember they are there to help you in your time of need. Do not allow strangers into your home or auto; do not give out your social security number, credit card numbers or bank account numbers. Beware of telemarketer fraud and mail scams, also of people who come knocking at your door to 1) shingle your roof, replace windows and siding, or 2) redo your driveway, etc., demanding payment in advance. In the state of Maine there is a three-day waiting period law in which time you should check out the credentials of the company or individuals.

We all need also beware of "Get rich quick" schemes that are out there, also the "Congratulations, you have just won a fabulous prize. All you need to do is pay shipping and handling or service charges." If you really won something, there is never any fee to be paid. If something seems too good to be true, then it is not for real.

Another thing to remember — keep your house and automobile doors locked. If out at night, walk in pairs if possible in well-lighted areas. If someone needs help, go to the nearest lighted area and call for help. Do not let strangers into your vehicle. It is better not to carry valuables (jewelry, large amounts of money, important papers, etc.) in your purse, so that if you are robbed, you do not lose them. As the AAA safetyman used to say, "Always Alert, Never Hurt, Safety Always Pays."

Tuesday, Oct. 8, dawned bright, clear and cold, so the West Paris Senior Citizens group carpooled and turned into "leaf peepers" for the day, going up Route 26 to Northlands in Berlin, N.H. for luncheon and then up Route 16 through Milan and Errol, N.H., eventually returning home through Grafton Falls. Have never seen so little water in the rivers and streams, especially in this area in all my years. We watched a man walk across the huge boulders that are normally a swirling torrent of water. We really had a marvelous day, returning home about 4:30 p.m. Happy fall, folks.

There is a correction to the West Paris Grange Harvest Supper for Oct. 19 from 5 to 6 p.m. The prices are $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

If you have not had your flu shot, come to West Paris Grange Hall, 4 Church Street, between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Oct. 30. Cost is $7 per shot except Medicare and Medicaid recipients whose shots are free.

The West Paris Grange annual Fall Fair is set for Saturday, Nov. 2 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tables to rent are $5. For a table, call Kathleen Holden at 674-2975.

Also on Saturday, Nov. 2, Franklin Grange 124 will be presenting a mock Hee Haw Show at their hall on Main Street, Bryant Pond at 7 p.m. Lots of good talent, so come enjoy.

Has your pet had its rabies shot yet? They need to before licensing time arrives. The Rabies Clinic will be held at West Paris Grange Hall on Saturday, Nov. 9 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. It is important to keep your pet's rabies shots up to date.

There will be a Hunters' Supper on Friday, Nov. 8 at 5:30 p.m. at Franklin Grange, Main Street, Bryant Pond. For a delicious supper, come out, bring your family or a friend and enjoy.

Guess that is all for this week, folks, so hope to see you all next week.

We survived the Fryeburg Fair. Couldn't have asked for a better week weather-wise. And no one should have complained of Friday's weather, as it was quite necessary.

Dale and Christine Penney from New Germany, Nova Scotia was visiting us and attended the Cumberland Fair and the Fryeburg Fair.

Five of the Craft Group met at Goodwill Hall on Thursday. We made beaded covers for nightlights in preparation for the Fall Sale to be on Nov. 9.

Our neighbor, Sidney Scott, was a member of a lucky moose hunt party up in the North Woods.

There was a birthday party for Dustin Tilley last Saturday with Vince and Beverly Stevens. Those present were Grandmother Ann, Mother Stacey, Lee Dean, and Georgine Thayer.

We are sorry that we are no longer being able to read the Whistle. We give a "big thank you" to Jim and Donna Marshall for the great service they did for our town. We are proud of citizens like you.

The Historical Society group will meet on Monday, Oct. 21, for a potluck supper at 6 p.m. For entertainment we will have Lorrie Hoeh from Albany and Grace McKivergan speaking about flax and spinning wheels.

On Sunday, Oct. 20, there will be an afternoon of the Sacred Song Concert at 2:30 p.m. at the Universalist Church. Everyone is welcome and there is no charge. The guest speaker at the Universalist Church on that same day at 9 a.m. will be Murad Sayen.

Milton and Eleanor Inman have come home now after being at Fryeburg Fair for two weeks working, as they always do.

Jane Cox and Louise DiArenzo have been visiting their mother, Zilphia DiArenzo. Jan Cox and her husband are from Pennsylvania. They are staying this week with her mother. Louise and Joe DiArenzo visited Brad and Ann Payne one afternoon.

Ann Payne took her mother, Fay Holt, and went down and got Colista Morgan and her roommate and took them for a ride, which they all enjoyed.

The sand shed is coming along well and is ready for wiring in the area where they are putting the compactor.

Plans are progressing to hopefully start the stump dump again.

Our road was graded and rock-raked this week along with other roads in the area.

My daughter-in-law and I went to Rumford to see my daughter, Evelyn, one day. She's not very well.

Our niece, Maude Culleton, passed on last week.

Glenn and Lillian Strait of Pownal, Chris and Steve Cogswell of Freeport, Albert Curtis from town and his daughter, Bonnie Whitman of Norway, were here Saturday. We had a good feed of baked beans, brown bread, biscuits and beef-vegetable stew.

Keith and Kevin Curtis of Norway visited one day.

Betty Curtis is with Carl Curtis at New Hampshire for the week.

It sure cooled off quick this week but expect it this time of year.

That's it for this week, and have a safe and happy one.

Hi people. Here it is news time again. It keeps rolling around whether I have anything for you or not.

Here is another "first." It's the first time we haven't attended the famous Fryeburg Fair. Did you go this year? Albert did get his Harmon's fried clams though, thanks to Dale. He also got some Santoro's subs, thanks to Sharon. Albert and I had to work those days, but I am glad that the young folks could go and enjoy the fair. We were just as well off. These old legs don't go like they used to. Saturday started out rainy but cleared off so it was a good day for everybody.

Sharon and Howard Berman and Nowal and friends, Iona Hunnedy and Zane and Nardia from Massachusetts were at the cottage at Keewaydin Lake over the weekend and attended the fair. While here, they got fresh Maine cider and apples and closed up camp for the winter. Yes, winter is on the way. Today, we got our air conditioners taken out and put away. We have had to have a new oil tank and new oil furnace, so guess we will both have to keep working a bit for a while.

Good news. Paul and Kay Legare are back from their travels and are going to reopen the former Tut's store and restaurant that has been closed a few weeks. They are cleaning and repairing and all sorts of things, and it will even have a new name — Melby's Market and Eatery. They plan to open in about four or five weeks. Welcome back, Paul, Kay and daughter Michelle, and good luck.

Monday night, there was a special Town Meeting held here in Stoneham. Voters decided to spend money to plug a hole in the Mill Pond Dam and to pay attorneys involved in the appeal of the Great Brook Marina at Evergreen Valley.

The Planning Board had issued a permit to build boat slips at the marina on Great Brook and the decision was appealed by Kezar Lake Association, and the town sought advice from the attorneys on the matter. Mary Fox filled in at the meeting in the absence of Town Clerk Midge Silvio, who was ill.

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke
Hello from Albany Township. The smell of burning wood from neighbors' woodstoves is in the air. So, must be Autumn. The foliage, thankfully, is still out in full bloom, and we've noticed many peepers out and about with their cameras strapped about their necks. We're hoping to be able to get out a bit this weekend for a little peeping ourselves, but that really depends on the weather, as we most likely will be taking our bikes out.

Last Saturday, the Youth Choir went to Ledgeview Nursing Home and sang to the residents during their church services. Holle Corriveau also read a poem she had written for a wayward friend (it was beautiful, Holle). Afterward, Sue Barton, mother of one of our singers who also happens to work at the nursing home, took us to see the elk next door. We're talking of taking the kids there for an outing some time.

Last Tuesday, was the church meeting, and we settled the budget for the upcoming year, as well as set dates for Christmas parties. Thursday is our bible study at Fernand and Holle Corriveau's home, and Friday is the Youth Group meeting, beginning at 5 p.m. with the little ones, and the older kids arriving at 6 p.m. for song rehearsal and then the meeting. This Sunday, the kids will be singing in church, so, we hope that there will be a few extra seats sat in on Sunday. Last Sunday, Sheila was to sing, but had lost her voice on Saturday. Annika Barton was kind enough to get up with Sheila to sing a song, and they sounded very nice together. Sheila is hoping that the two of them can get together to rehearse a couple of songs to sing together at church.

Best wishes and God Bless for a safe and happy week.

The fifth annual Bethel Antique Show and Sale was a great success, both in increased attendance and sales. This event was made possible through the sponsorship support of Cyr Auction Company, Mahoosuc Realty and the Otten Family. The volunteers play a big part in making the day enjoyable for all — it is always nice to have plenty of help. Many thanks to: David Freiday, Roger Larson, "Q," Doug Zinchuk, Al Cressy, Rick Mowery, Sylvia Clanton, Susan Herlihy, Sarah Edes, Barbara Douglass, Wendy Meader, Musa Brown, Doris Fraser, and Gould Academy for lending us the tables.

The Chamber Annual Meeting and Dinner is coming right up on Thursday, Oct. 24, at the Bethel Inn and Country Club. Many thanks to Western Maine Health for sponsoring the hors d'oeuvres starting at 5 p.m., with dinner to follow at 6:30 p.m. Reservations must be made by this Friday, Oct. 18, to the chamber office. A full dinner (three choices: salmon, London broil or almond chicken) is available for $20 per person. We will be honoring our outgoing board members: Kevin Finley and Kate Houston, voting in our new Board of Directors for 2003, hearing a few brief reports and having a nice evening to celebrate a successful 2002 to date. Call the office to reserve your seat (824-2282).

The chamber has recently completed several successful marketing projects including placing a double-page four-color ad in Maine Invites You Magazine, the state of Maine's primary response piece sent to those wishing to plan a visit in 2003 to Maine. We also hosted a press familiarization tour, with seven writers being treated to a complete tour of the Bethel area for three days. Many thanks to Wende Gray of Gray Marketing, for organizing this and to all the businesses and individuals who hosted, toured and fed the writers. We are also coming to completion on the Winter Map and Guide for 2003 and the Winter Calendar of Events, both expected to be done and distributed before Thanksgiving.

From the Bethel Senior Citizens

The Bethel Senior Citizens Club met Oct. 9 at the West Bethel Grange Hall for their meeting and dinner with 38 members present.

Musa Brown conducted the meeting and led the salute to the flag. Reports were given by Jane Hosterman and Arlene Lowell. Rudy Royer suggested another auction be held and everyone was in favor, time and place to be announced later. The raffle, an autumn wreath, was won by Grace Douglass, and the door prize was won by Ada Cummings.

The Rumford club invited the Bethel club to join them on a Christmas trip Dec. 16.

The next meeting will be Nov. 13 at the Locke Mills Legion Hall. Members will play Beano and there will be prizes.

Caroline Gould spoke on the Campbell's Labels for Education program for free merchandise for the school. She also had free snack cakes for everyone.

The blessing was given by Rudy Royer.

October birthdays are: Sylvia Dunham, Dottie Grant, Gene Grant, Madeline Hunt, Ronald Stevens, Martha Sweatt, Thomas Wheeler, and Florence Merrill.

From the Mahoosuc Arts Council

The annual Phonathon for the Mahoosuc Arts Council will take place on the evenings of Oct. 22, 23, 28, and 29. This year's phonathon goal is $10,000 and is the council's major fundraising event. Volunteers will be calling individuals to ask for gifts that will help the council to continue bringing quality programs in the arts to the SAD44 schools and communities.

The first community performance is on Friday, Nov. 1 at 7 p.m. at the Trustee's Auditorium in the new McLaughlin Science Center at Gould Academy and features the first of seven performances in the Meet the Artist Series.

This year's programming will include eleven community shows, 20 in-school assemblies plus Mollyockett Day performances and The Libbie Goodridge Kneeland Summer Memorial Series of free gazebo concerts.

Local support from community members in Andover, Greenwood, Newry, Woodstock and Bethel is vital to the existence of the council. It not only gives us encouragement to continue our work but receiving such broad-based support makes us more successful when applying to receive funding from foundations and corporations looking to sponsor the efforts of community organizations like Mahoosuc Arts.

From the Bethel Rotary Club

Last week in Rotary was Club Assembly. Steve Wight reported for Club Service that their projects are moving along with the goal of the Info Board to be completed by the Fall Country Breakfast.

International Service Committee chair, Cynthia Moran-Laux, told us to be on the look for an upcoming Citizen article on Ambassadorial Scholar, Alex Gillies. This committee will now be focusing their efforts on researching on a possible nominee for the new Rotary International program of Conflict Resolution as well as the possibility of sponsoring students to attend the World Peace and Understanding Conference in Wisconsin this spring. Cynthia and Bob Laux are preparing for their trip to Kenya to visit Sister Mike later this month.

Reporting for the Vocational Service Committee, Pat Roma excitedly shared that the Interact Group made up of Gould and Telstar students is rolling along. Mary Beth Bayerlein will be coordinating the Reading Program, which will have more of an update soon.

New Chair Dave Conary recounted the Community Service Committee's work. Upcoming events include the Fall Country Breakfast on Dec. 1 and the annual Senior Holiday Dinner on Dec. 10. For the clock project, it was a committee consensus for the club to donate it to the town with a yet to be determined amount of annual monies for maintenance. An immediate project for the group is the care of the Common Christmas Tree in preparation of the holiday festivities.

Recently, SAD44s new director of Adult Education, Jeanie Waite, shared her background with us. She is from Bethel and a Telstar Regional High School 1975 graduate. As a new Telstar grad, she never thought that she'd work in education or return to Bethel to work. Her path back to Bethel is a journey of lifelong learning. She switched majors in college from pre-med to nursing to history and psychology. When she graduated from college in 1980 only to not find a job, her mother suggested she learn how to type. Jeanie then enrolled in K. Gibbs graduate program and worked as a medical technologist after graduation.

Soon after, she went to work for L.L. Bean and worked up to an apparel and project engineer. She found she liked to figure out how things worked, but also found that it wasn't so clear-cut when humans became involved. From her experience of trying to communicate projects to her fellow workers both in-country and in Japan, she became interested and at times, challenged by how to communicate. So began her interest in adult learning, development and training.

All this brought her to working with adult education in Portland. And, after this experience, she realized that it is with adult education that she wanted to work. In reflection of her professional path, she considers herself a lifelong learner and this is her belief for adult education.

What is adult education? It can mean a lot of different things — like GED or conversational French or Channel 4 or Senior College. It can be viewed as a bridge or passage over to a different place.

What can we as Rotarians do to help? Become involved — get a buddy and take a class or offer ideas for a class.

Continuing series: Polio Eradication — Fulfilling Our Promise. There are many convincing reasons for supporting the polio eradication campaign. They include: A) Worldwide eradication will prevent polio from spreading back into countries now free from the disease. B) Eradication will end the need for routine polio immunization and its attendant costs, freeing up U.S. $1.5 billion in savings each year for other healthcare purposes. C) The elimination of the disease will wipe out polio-caused pain, death or disability. D) Polio immunization programs promote routine immunization for other childhood diseases. E) The opportunity for all to be part of this great humanitarian endeavor.

Inside Rotary: Congratulations to Dan K. and Jim R. on the opening of the Gould McLaughlin Science Center. Thanks, Bruce, for hosting the Family Day. Welcome Dave C. as Community Service Chairman.

From the Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats have six field offices throughout the county that are announcing hours when the facilities will be staffed for individuals who would like to pick up materials or who wish to volunteer.

The Fryeburg Field Office is located in Dr. Chisari's new building at 107 Main Street and will be open on Mondays and Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. with Myra Bethel as a volunteer.

The Buckfield office is on Main Street next to the Pizza Shop, and will be open Saturday mornings 9 a.m. to noon. Pat Jacobs is the coordinator.

The Oxford Hills Field Office is located at 40 Main Street next to H & R Block and will be open on Mondays and Thursdays from 1 to 4 p.m., on Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to noon, and 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to noon, on Fridays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon. Carol Gould is the team leader and would welcome additional volunteers.

The Rumford Office is at 128 Congress Street next to Subway and is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Saturday, 10 to 12 a.m. Kim Sequoia is the coordinator, with Julie Burns and Jeanette Brown as coordinators.

The Dixfield Office is on Sugarloaf Avenue and is open Monday through Friday, 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. and Yvonne Hemingway is the coordinator.

The Bethel Office is on Spring Street and is open on Saturday, 10 to 12 a.m., with other hours to be added. Mike Broderick is the coordinator.

The date for the Candidate Recognition Spaghetti Supper has been changed again to accommodate the schedule of the guest-of-honor, Congressman John Baldacci. The new date is Friday, Nov. 1 at 5 p.m. at the Eagles Hall in Rumford. There will be a social time from 4 to 5 p.m. All Oxford County candidates are expected to be there to kick off the final weekend before the Nov. 5 election.

There will be a Pingree Party on Saturday, Oct. 19, at the Sudbury Inn in Bethel. Chellie Pingree supporters are invited to come to watch the first debate in the Senate race and participate in some fun raffles.

Second District Congressional Candidate Mike Michaud and State Senate Candidate Bruce Bryant attended the Fryeburg Academy football game on Saturday, Oct. 12, and later delivered a large Michaud lawn sign to the Croteaus on Main Street. The Croteaus, both in their 80s, were thrilled to have the sign delivered by Michaud himself. Michaud and Bryant later attended the Fire Department Supper in Lovell, as did House candidate Margaret Reimer.

Anyone interested in helping with any of the Democratic campaigns may contact Oxford County Chair Cathy Newell at 875-2116.

From the North Country Audubon

The North Country Chapter of the Audubon Society of New Hampshire will hold its monthly meeting and program on Friday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m. at the New Hampshire Community Technical College in Berlin, N.H. Bob Quinn will present his program on "Cumberland Island, Georgia."

Journey to the East Coast's secret National Seashore and explore the 16 miles of isolated and windswept beach of this beautiful barrier island. Sensational beach combing combined with thousands of water birds such as Brown Pelican, Oystercatcher, Wilson's and Piping Plover, Black Skimmer and Clapper Rail plus the historic charm of the Greyfield Inn makes this a wonderful destination. Wild horses and armadillos roam the island; ghosts of millionaires haunt the ruins. Spanish moss covers the drooping branches of the live oaks while Painted Buntings and Yellow-throated Warblers flit through the magnolias.

North Country programs are free and open to the general public. Refreshments are served. For more information, call (603) 752-1924 or (603) 449-1376.

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

The Oxford County League of Historical Societies will meet in Fryeburg at the Fryeburg Historical Society Museum on Main Street, Saturday, Oct. 19, at 2 p.m. The program will feature a presentation on Fryeburg history followed by refreshments. Anyone interested in attending is cordially invited to do so. Further information can be gained by calling Ted or Ginny Nixon at 935-2287.

The fifth lecture in the Bethel Historical Society Regional History Center 2002 series was presented by Mary Valentine, a volunteer researcher at the society, who spoke on early Mormons in the Bethel area.

She described missionaries preaching in the Bethel area in the 1830s soon after the publication of the Book of Mormon in 1830. One of the first converts here was Daniel Bean, a cabinetmaker in Middle Intervale. Among others from this area who became Mormons and ventured west were Aaron York, Patty Bartlett Sessions, and Mary Ann Frost. Ms. Valentine's presentation was enhanced by excerpts from the writings of several of the area's converts or their descendants. Readers included Randy Bennett, Judy Haskell, Susan Herlihy, Jane Hosterman and Stan Howe. Here were recorded the difficulties of traveling west and the fight for survival from various diseases. Brigham Young was in the area in 1836 and a number of the converts later developed ties to some of the founders of the church.

Several members of the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints attended the lecture, including Elder and Sister Christiansen of Mexico. Cider and donuts followed the presentation.

The final lecture of the 2002 Series will be held on Thursday, Nov. 14, and feature Neill De Paoli, Ph.D., speaking on "Life on the Edge: Social Structure and Dynamics in 17th Century Pemaquid."

Over a thousand members strong, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For over thirty-five years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. Since 1974, the society has operated from its Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, a period house museum and research library. In 1999, it opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

From

N.H.C.T.C.

In an effort to help make New Hampshire businesses and people in general more aware of the role postsecondary education plays in helping people in New Hampshire better their lives, a series of early morning panel discussions are being held around the state. The first of these, "Breakfast(s) with Champions" was held at the NHCTC-Berlin satellite campus, the Littleton Learning Center, on Oct. 9 and focused on the role the Temporary Assistance to Needy Family (TANF) program has played in providing educational opportunities for people in the North Country. The meeting also presented information on tax incentives and training funds that are available when businesses partner with the community technical colleges and the Department of Health and Human Services.

The panel discussion was moderated by State Senator Katie Wheeler, who is a staunch supporter of the programs that help people better themselves through education. Senator Wheeler spoke about the need to make sure that TANF reauthorization at the federal level recognizes and allows for education so that there will be more success cases like the ones discussed at the meeting. Also in attendance was Rep. Brian Ward, who spoke of the North Country's need for better trained workers to attract and keep industry in the area.

Tom Wisbey deputy commissioner of the New Hampshire Community Technical System, opened the meeting by addressing the fact that programs like TANF and the College's Assisting People in Transition program help people achieve their piece of the American Dream of better lives for themselves and their families. Wisbey emphasized that the college is committed to providing educational opportunities that all New Hampshire residents can afford to take advantage of.

NHCTC-Berlin/Laconia College president, Dr. Karen Grosz, spoke about the way the college is responding to the needs of the North Country both in providing training and educational opportunities to the displaced mill workers in Berlin and more generally by putting resources into making the college available throughout the North Country at its Country at its satellite campuses in Woodsville and Littleton as well as exploring the possibilities of a Conway campus. Grosz went on to say that the college is providing training to area businesses directly through its Center for Training and Business Development.

Anyone who would like more information about the programs the college has to assist people in various ways can contact Emily Elliott at (603) 752-113, ext. 1050.

EVA M. BEAN (1895-1969) hauls her brother, Francis A. Bean (1897-1963), in an express wagon. Miss Bean, a nurse and Colby College graduate, was the founder of the Bethel Historical Society and author of "East Bethel Road." Her brother, a veteran of World War I, was a dairy farmer and insurance agent. This photograph is among thousands that can be found at the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The society is currently raising funds to establish its Regional History Center and to renovate the 1821 O'Neil Robinson House on Broad Street, which now houses exhibit galleries, offices, and the museum shop. Completion of this project will provide for improved storage space and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to educational activities, genealogical and historical research, and traditional crafts. Once the center is fully operational it will offer an expanded series of lectures, special events, conferences, courses, seminars, and publications. To learn more about this project, call the society at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910, e-mail info@bethelhistorical.org or visit the Web site at www.bethelhistorical.org

SCHUYLER L. MOTT

Schuyler Lenox Mott, 73, of Paris Hill, died at home on Wednesday, Oct. 9, 2002 after a courageous battle with cancer.

He was the only son of Hopper Lenox and Marion Hallett Mott. He was born in New York City on Oct. 16, 1928. He moved to Paris, to his mother's family home when he was three years old.

His ancestors on his mother's side were some of the first settlers on Paris Hill, the Jacksons and Hubbards played a prominent role in the history of Paris, which continued to Schuyler's time. His father's family, the Hoppers, the Strikers, the Motts and the Schuylers, were prominent Dutch settlers in New York. His great-grandmother, who died at age 104 when he was an infant, cherished the faded copy of the land grant the family was given by Queen Anne in 1642. The land was 500 acres covering the area between Broadway and the Hudson River in New York City.

He attended Paris public schools and graduated from Kimball Union Academy in Meriden, N.H. A graduate of Colby College, Waterville, he received his master's in Library Science at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, N.Y. While there, he was employed in the New Bedford (Massachusetts) Public Library in their local history and genealogy room.

He married Constance Wiley of Sanford, in February 1951. She died in September 1981. He was employed in the Atomic Energy Division of E. I. DuPont de Nemours in both Wilmington, Del., and Aiken, S.C. He joined the U.S. Army in November 1954 and served as a special agent in the Counter-Intelligence Corps after graduating from The Army Intelligence School, Fort Holabird, Md.

He was employed at the Bloomfield (New Jersey) Public Library as head of the circulation department. In 1963, he became director of the Bernardville (New Jersey) Public Library. While there, he oversaw a major expansion of the library building. He became director of the Ocean County Library in Tom's River, N.J., in 1971 and was in charge of a main library building and eight branches. He also worked on the plans for a new main library building there.

Retiring in 1977, he returned to his home in Maine where he opened a bookstore, Books-N-Things, in the Oxford Plaza, Oxford, which he sold in 1984. He married Winifred Irene Drag of Paris, in November 1982. He was elected president of the board of the Hamlin Memorial Library and then in 1990 worked as the librarian and museum curator for seven years retiring again in 1997.

During his career, he served in many professional organizations.

He was president of the New Jersey Library Association, the Mid-Atlantic Library Association, the New Jersey representative of the Council of the American Library Association, the Maine Library Trustee Association, and the Maine Library Association, as well as serving on many committees and subcommittees within these organizations.

He felt very fortunate to serve both his profession and his town. He was a member of the Paris Appeals Board for 12 years, 10 of those as chairman. He was a member of the First Comprehensive Plan Committee and chairman of the Second Comprehensive Plan Committee until his health failed. In his village of Paris Hill he served as president of the Paris Hill Country Club, the Sandy Shore Swimming Club, and the Hillside Cemetery Association.

He was a member of the Paris Hill Historical Society, the Paris Cape Historical Society, the Bethel Historical Society, the Paris Hill Community Club, the Maine Historical Society, and the Maine State Museum. He enjoyed scuba diving, golf, skiing, snowshoeing, traveling, the theatre and the arts. He was an avid reader and researcher, especially of the Civil War period.

As a young child, he remembers conversations around the table between his grandmother and great aunt who lived through the Civil War. He had an extensive map collection spanning many years and a lifelong stamp collection. He faithfully collected data on all the major football teams and had record books covering more than 50 years. He will be greatly missed by many, including those school children and adults who enjoyed his unique historical tours of the Hamlin Memorial Library and the Paris Hill area.

Survivors include his wife; his daughter, Nancy Mott Brew and her husband Bernard of College Park, Md.; his son, Peter J.S. Mott and his wife Elizabeth of Cary, N.C.; his stepdaughter, Captain Teresa J. S. Drag, United States Marine Corps, Quantico, Va.; and two granddaughters.

A memorial service was held at the First Baptist Church on Paris Hill on Sunday, Oct. 13. A committal service followed at Hillside Cemetery on Paris Hill. In lieu of flowers, the family asks people to remember Schuyler by contributing to the Schuyler Lenox Mott Scholarship Fund for Future Librarian/Media Specialist at the Oxford Hills Comprehensive High School, c/o S.A.D. #17, 1570 Main Street, Oxford, ME 04270.
